TODAY

Vice President Lionel Nunns welcomed us. Dernys Pinfeld introduced his daughter Robin Hale. Laury Sinclair introduced David Buist the Christchurch coordinator for Healthy Heroes.

VP Lionel told us that our signage for the grove has been finalised and when we get the word from the Te Araroa Trust we can unveil it. There was a general indication from the meeting that this warranted some sort of ceremony to which we should invite representatives of the Trust and Wellington City Council. No doubt the Board will be putting this in hand.

The proposed evening to learn about listening to music on 10 November has been postponed until next year.

Laury Sinclair found some happy members. Stephen Spence enjoyed a blue sky and another AB's win. Roy Ferguson attended his grand daughter's birthday party along with thirty other five year olds.

TODAY'S SPEAKER

Fred Dodds

CEO Inst. of Financial Advisers Changes to Financial Advisers Act

Ross Foubister introduced Fred Dodds. From Dunedin, Fred attended Otago BHS and the University of Otago. He worked as a life insurance salesman and a manager of sales staff for Government Life and for Prudential.

Fred told us that he is now retired but agreed to a request to become the CEO of the Institute of Financial Advisers. He gave us an informative and amusing address and a great deal of detail. He painted a dismal picture of our population's poor savings record and under insurance and the mistake of not adopting a compulsory insurance scheme when proposed by Bill Rowling or subsequently. He told us that the NZ Super Fund (Cullen Fund) is now our highest taxpayer even though contributions are on hold.

He told us that financial advisers can be put in three groups. The first are share brokers who can also do other things, secondly those who deal with insurance and mortgages and thirdly those who do other stuff.

He gave us a frank appraisal of the current legislation and the Institute and its members with examples of what he saw as needing improvement. He discussed the problem of people who needed financial advice not being able to afford it and various other problems about how advisers are paid. In this area he gave us more problems than solutions.

The legislation is currently under review. He said that the Institute should be relevant, have authority, be independent, be rigorous and have teeth. It also needed better and better trained members. And the most important thing its members should have is trust. His aim is to make financial advising a profession of members who have achieved trust. He concluded by saying, "Advisors have to become consumer centric".

Morris Scott proposed a vote of thanks.

SUPPORT needed. Join with us to Make a Difference

Rotary New Zealand in collaboration with The Salvation Army has launched an appeal for cash donations to provide practical support for families affected by Cyclone Matthew in Haiti.

Flooding and mudslides remain a serious concern throughout the impacted region, particularly in the areas of Aux Cayes, Port-au-Prince, and Petit Goave, where a large bridge collapsed, an important thoroughfare to the capital city. In southern Haiti, where the destruction was especially brutal, Salvation Army schools and community centres opened throughout the region to host vulnerable people, many of whom lost their roofs or entire homes due to violent winds and falling trees.

Latest estimates suggest one thousand people have been killed and one and a quarter million people have been affected who are in need of immediate and ongoing humanitarian assistance.

The Salvation Army immediately responded at evacuation shelters with supplies of food, safe drinking water and clothing in addition to visiting and providing support for those who are able to remain in their homes, all needing basic supplies for their health and wellbeing at a time of physical and mental anguish.

Without the intervention from organisations such as The Salvation Army and Rotary there is a heightened risk of waterborne diseases including cholera, typhoid, hepatitis A and malaria.

Haiti was devastated in 2010 with a 7.0 earthquake and Cyclone Matthew has dealt the people still reeling from that disaster a further serious setback.

PARTING THOUGHT

TRIBAL WISDOM OF DAKOTA INDIANS

When you find you are riding a dead horse the best strategy is to dismount.

However Governments have more advanced strategies.

- 1 Buy a bigger whip.
- 2 Change riders.
- 3 Reclassify the horse as being impaired.
- 4 Declaring the dead horse does not need feed, has lower overheads and thus contributes more to the bottom line.
